

Managing the Classroom for Student Achievement

Graduate Course/Seminar

Saturday January 20, 2018

Teachers and administrators know that a well managed classroom is essential for teachers to teach and students to learn. This one day seminar will give you practical strategies and methods to implement in your school or classroom on Monday morning. The presenter is Dr. Frank Bouknight who will use his extensive experience as a teacher and administrator to share what works with today's students and why. Dr. Bouknight has been teaching classroom management skills to teachers throughout the Eastern United States for over fifteen years. His Managing the Classroom for Student Achievement graduate professional development course through the College of Charleston has been very successful with teachers.

Topics Addressed

- We really do know what works: A review of the research on classroom management. "It's not rocket surgery." (Middle school student)
- Building a foundation with students by developing healthy relationships. "Kids don't care how much you know, until they know how much you care." (Dr. Madeline Hunter)
- Developing the classroom management plan. "By failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail." (Benjamin Franklin)
- Strategies and techniques that really work. "You have to know when to hold them know when to fold them." (Kenny Rogers)
- Procedures and routines for the classroom. "The number one problem in education is not discipline; it is the lack of procedures and routines" (Harry Wong)
- Questions and answers. "That sounds good, but what if..."
