MASTER OF EDUCATION IN CLASSROOM LEADERSHIP

ONLINE PROGRAM

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

WHAT IS THE MASTER OF EDUCATION IN CLASSROOM LEADERSHIP?

The Master of Education program is designed for advanced professional development of educators. The program concentrates on an educational framework that supports the advancement, application and integration of relevant theory and practice within the classroom with a focus on philosophical and psychological learning theory and teacher leadership, appropriate instructional strategies, critical thinking, contemporary issues and assessment. This program does not lead to teacher certification, but graduates may qualify for a pay increase for earning this advanced degree.

WHAT DO STUDENTS ENROLLED IN THE M.ED. IN CLASSROOM LEADERSHIP PROGRAM DO?

As a Master of Education student, you will practice concepts learned from the program in your own classroom and conduct educational research. The curriculum includes topics such as teacher leadership and mentoring, educational ethics, instructional technology, curriculum, assessment and effectiveness. The teacher's classroom can serve as a "laboratory" for the completion of course requirements, so the M.Ed. in Classroom Leadership can be completed while teaching fulltime.

IS THIS DEGREE RIGHT FOR YOU?

You might consider a Master of Education if you already hold a bachelor's degree in education and state certification, have one year of teaching experience, and wish to advance professionally as an educator.

Total Credit Hours	36
Typical Length of Program	20 months (not including electives)

EARN YOUR TEACHER LEADER ENDORSEMENT

Many excellent South Carolina teachers do not want to serve as principals or superintendents but want to remain involved in teaching while they serve in a leadership capacity. The Teacher Leader endorsement, approved by the legislature effective June 26, 2015, helps to fill this void that exists in leadership options for South Carolina teachers.

The Teacher Leader endorsement focuses on providing assistance to practicing teachers in becoming leaders who are trained and equipped with the knowledge and competencies necessary to mentor and coach colleagues. Additionally, they will be able to effectively and efficiently lead school-based teams in setting goals to achieve results; problem solving to find solutions; professional development to meet teaching and learning needs; building school capacity to focus on student outcomes; and interpreting data to impact student performance.

The three courses and observational experience required for the Teacher Leader endorsement are already built into the M.Ed. in Classroom Leadership program (EDCL 5373, EDCL 5183, EDCL 5493). You can learn more about this endorsement from the SC Department of Education website.

Southern Wesleyan does not advise students on what will or will not be accepted by their state departments of education. Students are encouraged to contact their state department of education to ensure the degree offered by Southern Wesleyan University meets state requirements.
